Our Conductor

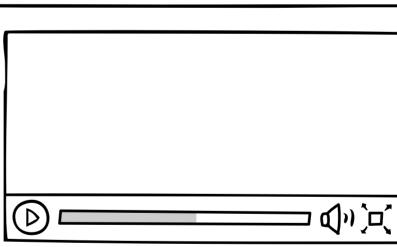

John Smith studied at Trinity College Dublin graduating with an Honours Degree in Music and a Higher Diploma in Education. He taught music at second level for thirty years. As a Conductor, John has long experience particularly in Choral Music. He has always been an enthusiastic advocate of Community Music and his whole career has been dedicated to bringing good music into the lives of others. Being visually impaired himself, John has adopted ways of teaching and directing which caters for all degrees of vision loss.

A taste of our song repertoire

Words from some of our choir members ...

"There's no judgement or expectations in the choir, you don't have to be a great singer or know how to read music. We learn everything by ear!" Elaine B.

"Roger from Dublin bus used to accompany Mary and myself to Ely Place every Saturday morning until we felt confident enough to make the journey all on our own." Claire R.

"John gives us audible directions and his talented daughter helps him record downloadable audio learning files of all the songs so we can practice at home." Jeremy D.

"I spend some weekends in Mayo with my family. The choir has facilitated me to keep attending the Saturday rehearsals by logging on to Jamulus or Zoom." Kevin F.

"Our rehearsals always include a time for a cuppa and some homemade buns. This allows us to catch up with our fellow choir members." Mary K.

"Getting out of the house and singing with the choir makes me feel good. They encourage me to focus on what I can achieve and not what I can't!" Barry D.
